If his birthday is any indication, 26 is going to be a year to remember for Isaac Hagerling. This LA player and chess enthusiast celebrated his birthday by not only making his first career WSOP final table, but also winning his first gold bracelet and $372,387 after one of the more memorable heads-up battles of the summer.

Hagerling and his opponent, bracelet winner Max Steinberg, came into today as the last two players standing in the unique $3,000 Mixed Max event. They battled back and forth for three and a half hours before Hagerling prevailed. He now joins the ranks of Lev Rofman and Levi Berger as relative unknowns who have denied their heads-up opponent a chance at a return to the WSOP winner's circle.
