The action was fast and furious in the final $1,500 No Limit Hold'em event of the summer. On Day 3, players busted at a staggering pace. Just eight and a half hours after the day had begun, only two players remained. Then the pace completely shifted. Brandon Hall and Sam Jaddi battled in an epic heads up match and played all the way through Day 3 into a fourth day. They were a two-man wrecking crew as the two combined to knock out all of their final table foes. Someone had to give in, though, and only one would be able to take home the hardware and the top payday of $614,248. It would end up being Pembroke Pines, Fla. resident Sam "MSH" Jaddi who won his first WSOP gold bracelet Friday afternoon.
