Yue (Alan) Du, a 48-year-old venture capitalist and investor, won the $5,000 buy-in No-Hand Cash Game event #59 at the WSOP in Las Vegas, becoming the first gold bracelet winner from the Peoples Republic of China.

The 48-year-old venture capitalist and investor without much of a tournament resume prior to this day won one of the toughest tournaments in all of poker -- the $5,000 buy-in No-Hand Cash Game. The competition was played over four days and three nights and concluded on the ESPN main stage at the Rio in Las Vegas.

Du collected $800,586 in prize money, making this the biggest poker win of his career.

Du won his victory by coming out on top at a final table which included some tough competition . perhaps most notably German pro Dominik Nitsche, who was seeking his fourth career gold bracelet. However, Du made things look too easy. He dominated the final few days of play and obliterated
