LAKISHA SLAUGHTER TAKES DOWN THE TURBO EVENT

Homemaker felt it was her time to finally ship her first tournament

Early in the tournament, Lakisha Slaughter was down to 125 in chips at 50/100 and was basically forced all in from the big blind. Miraculously, she was able to spin this up into a massive win on one entry to book her biggest career cash and first tournament win.

"It's amazing. I mean, it feels good. I felt like I was due. I try to not miss one (a tournament) because I feel like it might be my turn" laughed Slaughter. One of her final table mates bluffed her earlier and showed. "If you bluff me don't show me, because I'm never folding to you. But I didn't tell him my secret because I didn't want him to use it against me." It worked out because he ran a bluff on the final table and she caught him, propelling her to the win.
